Gag Tightened on MacArthur

Administration Is Irked Again by General's Policy Statements

WASHINGTON, March 27—(AP)—The Truman administration has asked Gen. Douglas MacArthur to submit for Washington clearance any future statements with political significance.

Informed officials who told a reporter of the request last night said it followed consultation among the White House, state and defense departments.

In effect, the new message was a reminder of a general directive issued by President Truman last December calling for advance word of any broad foreign policy statements.

The message was a follow-up to MacArthur's offer of last week-end to meet the Communist commander in Korea for truce talks.

In that statement, he raised an implied possibility that the United Nations, whose forces he commands, might change its policy to authorize attacks on Chinese military bases on China's coastal areas. The state department officials said MacArthur's statement had not been dispatched to Washington in advance.

Officials said the purpose of the new message to MacArthur was to assure that in the future any such statements could be approved or disapproved here or that modifications could be suggested.

SHOCK FOR TOKYO

TOKYO, March 27—(AP)—Reports that President Truman had put General MacArthur under political censorship were received with considerable shock and some surprise in Tokyo.

Surrender Leaflets Are Dropped on Reds Near 38th Parallel

BY OLEN CLEMENTS
TOKYO, March 27—(AP)—American troops fought through a Chinese regiment today on the western front in a slow advance toward the Red Korean border. They killed 350 Communists.

Nearby another U. S. unit battled three battalions of rear-guard Chinese. By late Tuesday afternoon the Americans had squeezed the Reds into a trap. United Nations warplanes dropped surrender leaflets.

An American division staff officer said he did not believe the Chinese would put up another major stand south of parallel 38.

Thurman (Dusty) Miller really gets around . . . and he never misses a thing that is even remotely related to Fayette County and Washington C. H.

For, Dusty not only lives just 22 miles away at Wilmington, but he also has hundreds of friends hereabouts where he has spoken many, many times before all kinds of organizations and at all sorts of meetings.

I just received a letter from him saying he rode the bus with Mrs. Julia Priboj and her daughter Betty when they came to visit Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCoy here about a week ago.

It was Mrs. Priboj, you remember, who saved the life of Charles and several of his crewmates during the last war when they bailed out of their bomber behind the Nazi lines in Czechoslovakia. Mrs. Priboj concealed them in her home and started them out with the underground to freedom. Now she and her 18-year-old daughter are in Ohio visiting those boys.

But back to Dusty. Since so many of you know him, I know his letter will interest you. Here it is, just as he wrote it:

"Your camera should be better bus-broke. 'Twas po' lil' ol' Dusty Miller hisself a settin' right 'tother side of the dog on the Greyhound when the picture of the Czech ladies was taken.

"And 'twas the same p. l. o. d. m. who shared a seat from Wooster to WCH with the pretty girl you call Betty Priboj. The mama knows enough English words to get along very nicely. Betty is less proficient, but she's a dear girl, as we always said at Marshall.

"I not only know the ropes of bus-riding, I know the chains. So I explained to the ladies about claiming their seats on the bus after the stop-over in Columbus. But I spied them on the very outside of the crowd, and told the driver, who is my friend, the situation and he ushered them through the throng to their seats.

"I had written the story for my column when Gracie (God dress her!) found you much-better story, thus I learned facts I'm entirely too PO-lite to wangle out of a pretty seat companion on a bus. (Whisper: I've looked up Charlie McCoy's telephone number.)"

Informed sources said this afternoon no direct orders to that effect had been received. But they added any such official announcement would have to be made in Washington.

United Nations commanders are trying to convince the Communists a negotiated peace is the cheapest way of wiping off their unprofitable gamble in Korea. But informed sources here said there had been no Red overtures for a truce, and there is no indication whether they are ready to begin talking terms.

The Allies began their campaign of conviction in January with an offensive frankly labeled as mainly an effort to pile up Red losses. The attack, still underway, has cost the enemy more than 180,000 dead and wounded.

Jobless Benefits Law Assailed

Retail Merchants Want Holes Plugged

COLUMBUS, March 27—(AP)—Employers today attacked liberalized portions of Ohio's jobless benefit law enacted two years ago.

George Hammond, of the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants, led off at a hearing by the Senate commerce and labor committee.

Hammond said employers generally endorse a bill by Sen. Robert A. Pollock (R-Stark). The measure would deny unemployment compensation to workers who voluntarily quit their jobs or are fired for just cause.

"That's the heart of this bill," Hammond said. "The measure would eliminate maximum $5 payments to unemployed workers for their minor dependents, and would require workers to hold a job 20 weeks instead of 14, to qualify for benefits."

Present maximum benefits of $25 a week for 26 weeks are retained in the bill. Labor spokesmen last week backed another measure proposing maximum $35 weekly payments.

Pollock said his bill is designed to tighten loopholes in the present law.

"Ohio now pays benefits to people who quit work just because it pleases their fancy to quit," Pollock said.

Lioness Crashes Swank Society Party

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., March 27—(AP)—A hungry lioness slipped out of her cage at a circus-costume ball here early today and cavorted among movie stars and socialites for 15 minutes before being captured by a singer, a restaurant man and a photographer.

Singer Allan Jones, Renaldo Ferarri of San Francisco, and magazine photographer Earl Tiesen crowded the animal into a corner where her handlers could get a rope around her and lead her back to the cage.

More Grilling Faces O'Dwyer

Grand Jury Probe Is on in Brooklyn

NEW YORK, March 27—(AP)—Former Mayor William O'Dwyer had another day today with a Brooklyn grand jury probing alleged tieups between racketeers and corrupt police.

O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico, spent 4½ hours with the jury yesterday. No official comments were made on his testimony.

While O'Dwyer was in Brooklyn, one of his long-time associates, James J. Moran, pleaded innocent to perjury charges stemming from testimony before the U. S. Senate crime investigating committee.

Moran, who has been forced to resign a $15,000-a-year lifetime city water commissioner post given him by O'Dwyer, was indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on three charges of perjury.

Louis Weber, a former convict racketeer, also was indicted. Weber, who has been held on perjury charges for more than a week, also pleaded innocent.

Moran was released in $25,000 bail. While Weber remained in custody. His bail was increased from $15,000 to $20,000.

The perjury charges arose from Moran's testimony that he saw Weber fewer than six times when he (Moran) was New York's first deputy fire commissioner. Weber swore he never saw Moran before they met at the committee hearing.

A third witness, Gerard Martin, receptionist for Moran, said Moran and Weber sometimes met as often as 11 times a month.

At the arraignment, Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard set Moran's trial for April 9. Moran faces a 15-year prison sentence and $6,000 fine if convicted on the three counts.

Weber's trial was set for April 16. He could go to prison for five years and be fined $2,000 if convicted.

O'Dwyer's grand jury appearance reportedly deals with police-protected rackets. O'Dwyer was Brooklyn district attorney before he was elected mayor in 1945.

Two Stomp Killers Go to Death Chair

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., March 27—(AP)—West Virginia's stomp and kick killers who took up religion in the death house were executed last night.

Harry Atlee Burdette, 27, and Fred C. Painter, 32, became the first West Virginians to die by electrocution since the state replaced its hanging rope with the chair almost two years ago.

The two were convicted of stomping to death a soft drink salesman on a Charleston street last July.

War Bride Is Revealed as Spy As She Tries To Stay in U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 27—(AP)—Mrs. Ellen Knauff, German war bride, detained since 1948, has lost a major battle in her fight to win permanent residence in the United States.

A special immigration service board of inquiry ordered the 36-year-old woman barred from the U. S. yesterday after listening to testimony she was a former Czechoslovak spy.

Mrs. Knauff said she would appeal the board's decision. Attorneys on both sides agreed the case may continue many months. Mrs. Knauff is free under parole to her attorneys.

For the first time in the long veiled case, the government lifted the curtain on a part of the evidence it always has claimed it had against the slight, dark-haired woman. She is the wife of Kurt Knauff a veteran working

Corruption Within Law Eating at Foundations Of Democracy, Claim

WASHINGTON, March 27—(AP)—Senator Fulbright declared today moral corruption beyond the reach of the law is eating away the foundations of American democracy. He called for revival of the precepts of the Pilgrims and founding fathers.

The Arkansas Democrat who heads the sensation packed probe of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC) said it was not a condition to be remedied by politicians or policemen. He said it calls for the wisdom of the nation's most respected private citizens acting as a commission on national morality and backed by an indignant public.

In a speech prepared for Senate delivery, Fulbright offered a list of ten names of jurists, religious leaders, a labor chief and a former senator as men of "integrity beyond reproach" who might make up such a commission.

In his passionately stated indictment of public morals, Fulbright included the nation's athletics minded colleges and universities, blaming the "cynical, immoral doctrine that one must win at all costs" for scandals such as bribing of basketball players.

Fulbright said investigation after investigation has shown up evil that is "beyond the reach of the law." Now, he added, it is time to seek remedies.

He renewed a demand Congress turn to "private citizens of outstanding character and achievement, whose integrity is beyond reproach," for the answers.

Fulbright said such a commission well might include former Supreme Court Justice Owen Roberts; former Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin; Chief Justice Learned Hand of the second circuit court of appeals; Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers union (CIO); Paul Hoffman, Ford foundation director; Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr, professor at Union Theological Seminary; Dr. Theodore Greene, professor at Yale University; Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, former head of the University of Chicago; Everett Ross Clinchy, president of the Conference of Christians and Jews; and the Rev. Wilfrid Parsons, Catholic University professor.

He said he has no special protection now, that he knows about, adding:

"I go my own free way."

Tobey said two of the threats against him came in letters, "one typed and one written by hand."

He said the third threat was "by telephone from here in Washington."

None of the senators appeared disturbed about the threats.

Chairman Kefauver laughed at his, saying they were the "usual crack-potish letters. Someone sent me an obituary."

Income Tax Hook

The treasury advised Senate crime investigators today it is setting up a special fraud section to check on the income tax returns of gamblers and racketeers.

Secretary Snyder sent to the committee a pledge of a continuing drive to bring "cheaters to justice." His statement was presented by Edward Foley, under secretary of the treasury.

Snyder said there has not been and will not be any letup in the Internal Revenue Bureau's warfare "against major league criminals." He noted it was the income tax men who bagged the late Scarface Al Capone, Chicago gang overlord of the prohibition era.

George J. Schoeneman, commissioner of Internal Revenue, followed up Snyder's statement with testimony his agents are now investigating nearly 2,500 tax cases "in the criminal area."

Foley, Schoeneman and other treasury officials testified at what was billed as the crime probes last televised hearing before the scheduled windup of their investigation at the end of this week.

Several odds and ends are to be dealt with before the windup. Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn) said the group will decide on Friday what further action to take

Income Tax Trap Is Now Studied

Returns Checked Committee Told

WASHINGTON, March 27—(AP)—Three members of the Senate crime investigating committee disclosed today they have received threats against their lives.

Senator Tobey (R-NH) told a reporter he had received "three different threats -- two by letter and one by telephone."

"I thought them serious enough to have them looked into," Tobey added.

Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn) said he, too, had received a number of threats "in crackpot letters."

"I've not taken any of them seriously," he added.

Senator Hunt (D-Wyo) said he received a letter warning him against "sticking my nose into other people's business" during public hearings at Miami, Fla., some time ago.

Sen. Tobey Surprised

Tobey expressed surprise at a statement by his son, Charles W. Tobey, Jr., published by the Boston Globe, that the senator "without knowing it, has had protection 24 hours a day and protection will continue."

He said he has no special protection now, that he knows about, adding:

"I go my own free way."

She's in Texas, Mother Reveals

Announcement Made By Sheriff Hays

Mrs. Minerva (Penny) Braddock is coming home.

She has written a letter from Texas to her mother, stating she will be home within 10 days.

Her mother, Mrs. Clarence Painter of near McArthur, received the letter about noon Tuesday.

The overjoyed mother then called Sheriff Orland Hays and told him she had just received a letter from her daughter, from Texas, but she did not give the name of the town where her daughter was located.

It is the first direct word from the missing woman since she was last seen in Cleveland, Dec. 18, where she abandoned her car and vanished.

Mrs. Painter also called her daughter, Mrs. Donald Pastors, in Columbus, and told her about the letter and again forgot to tell her from where the letter was sent in Texas.

Mrs. Braddock was last seen by friends here the night of Dec. 17, when she went to her home, and left it late in the night for Columbus, where she was to begin work for a cosmetic company the following day.

She was not heard of for some time. After much delay word was received here that her automobile had been impounded by the Cleveland police on Dec. 18.

Sheriff Orland Hays immediately started a search to locate the missing attractive divorcee, whom, it was feared, had met with foul play.

Friends See Mrs. Braddock

As the search progressed word was received from three or four persons in Florida that she had been seen there.

It came to light recently that Mrs. Braddock had cashed $450 worth of travelers checks in Cleveland Dec. 18. This was taken as additional evidence that she had left Cleveland and was planning an extensive trip.

Mrs. Braddock abandoned her home on the Columbus Road, two miles northeast of Washington C. H., and $1,000 worth of Christmas presents, wrapped but never delivered.

She also left her refrigerator filled with food, and told friends she would be home within a day or two.

Her parents and other relatives were greatly concerned over her safety, and they are now overjoyed to hear from her and learn that she is to be home soon.

Newspapers throughout the nation gave wide publicity to the mystery surrounding the disappearance of Mrs. Braddock, who was twice divorced from Fred Braddock, truck line owner of Washington C. H.

Because of the extraordinary nature of the case, it attracted general attention, and was the subject of a great deal of speculation on the part of the public in general.

Some phases of the case, as the investigation proceeded, indicated that Mrs. Braddock might have been murdered, might have been the victim of amnesia, or might have gone to Florida or elsewhere as a result of a sudden change of mind.

After she had reportedly been seen by friends in Florida on a number of occasions, the search was dropped by Sheriff Hays, who expressed the belief that as soon as spring arrived the missing woman would be back.

All efforts of the Record-Herald to get in touch with Mrs. Painter were futile. She made the call, it was learned, either from a pay station or the telephone exchange in McArthur and then left. She lives on a farm about 8 miles from the Vinton County seat and no telephone was listed there.

The sheriff of Vinton County was away for the day and the McArthur police chief could not be immediately located.

Although the only source for additional details, thus, was unreachable, Sheriff Hays said he was confident there had been no mistake and that the letter was no hoax.

Meat for State Institutions Is Problem -- Court Test Likely

COLUMBUS, March 27—(AP)—An Office of Price Administration regulation designed to assure state institutions meat at ceiling prices appeared headed for a court test today.

The regulation says packers shall supply state institutions with as much meat as they sold them during the same period last year—and at ceiling prices.

And, John Bush, the state purchasing agent, says he'll go to court if necessary to get 225,000 pounds of dressed pork and beef in April for Ohio institutions. Five Ohio packing companies are required to supply that amount together under the regulation.

But last night one of the packers said his firm does not intend to supply the state with any meat in April. Louis P. Davis, president of the National Packing Company, said he would supply the state with meat in April. Louis P. Davis, president of the National Packing Company, said he would supply the state with meat in April.

Field Day Plans Are Laid Here

Substantial Progress Reported by Committee

Reports indicating that leaders here have been making a substantial start towards getting the Soil Conservation Field Day plans laid here were made at a meeting held Monday night at the Farm Bureau auditorium.

The educational committee reported that it had several good layouts for fertilizer and grass seeding. Members of the livestock committee are getting some of their program started.

Much preliminary work will go into the Field Day, to be held sometime in early August.

There were indications that the Field Day group may incorporate. Something definite on the incorporation may be reported on at the next meeting of the Field Day committee at 8 P. M. April 30.

Those present at the meeting Monday night included the following: Leo Fisher, Ralph Penn, Harry Silcott, Melvin Hiesel, Albert Cobb, Robert Haigler, Dutch Denton, Justin Owens, C. E. McCarty, Mrs. Norma Campbell, Max Allen, Frank Sollars, Horace Wilson, Don Scholl and W. W. Montgomery.

Driver Is Charged With Two Offenses

Dale H. Chaney, 25, Hillsboro, ran into trouble here at 10 P. M. Monday.

He was arrested for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, and also charged with operating an automobile with insufficient brakes.

His car was placed in a garage with instructions not to release it until the brakes were repaired, and Chaney was locked up to await arraignment on the two charges.

Red Cross Takes in $2,837 in Fund Drive

Red Cross campaign headquarters reported at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon that it has collected $2,837 during the present drive to date.

The goal is in excess of $11,000. Five townships still have made no reports. Incomplete reports have been turned in by wards in the city. Red Cross leaders say that much money still is out and to be collected. According to the fund chairman, Ferrell Smith, the drive is some $500 behind what it was at this time last year.

Grange Executive Known Here Dies

Loren Hynes received word Tuesday morning of the death of a friend and the man who preceded him as secretary of the Ohio State Grange.

Weldon G. Vandenberg, 68, a member of the executive committee of the state Grange, died in Good Samaritan Hospital in Zanesville, his home town, at 6 A. M. Tuesday following a heart attack suffered last Thursday, Hynes said.

Hynes said he and Mr. Vandenberg had become good friends after the former state Grange secretary helped acquaint him with the duties of the office when he was selected to fill it.

Mr. Vandenberg, who lived with Mrs. Vandenberg on a farm near Zanesville, also was president of the Ohio State Mutual Insurance Co., of Newark, a director of the Grange Mutual Casualty Co. and was Muskingum County soil and conservation supervisor.

Hynes said he had not learned when the funeral services were to be held but, he added, he and Mrs. Hynes were planning to attend. He said he thought several other Grangers probably would go to the services, too.

Mr. Vandenberg was known to many Fayette Countians through his visits here, Hynes said.

against three defiant witnesses who are already under $10,000 bond each for contempt.

The three are Morris Kleinman and Louis Rothko, both of Cleveland, described by the committee as top rank gamblers, and Jacob (Greasy Thumb) Guzik, Chicago Capone gangster. All refused to answer the committee's questions about underworld activities.

The crime committee called the treasury officials before it because of reports racketeers have been permitted to list their income simply as coming from "miscellaneous sources."

In a recent report to the Senate, the committee complained that gamblers and other figures were "getting away with murder" in the income tax returns they filed.

It said the Internal Revenue Bureau accepted generalized statements from them about their income and expenses that would not be accepted from ordinary citizens.

Schoeneman presented a statement saying in the last five years special agents have conducted 1,671 investigations of income tax returns of individuals involved in gambling activities as well as "abortionists, bootleggers, extortionists, corrupt officials and numerous individuals associated with or in the fringe area of the underworld."

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, March 27—(AP)—The little man was quite impressed with the Kefauver crime hearings on TV, especially with having the senators and characters talking in his living room.

He hopes some good would come of them. He hoped they wouldn't wind up like some of the read of in the past; nine-day wonders that just petered out.

He certainly agreed with Senator Tobey, the New Hampshire Republican, who said he felt sure when millions of people saw things like this on TV they'd take a greater interest in government.

The little man felt sure they would—and that he would himself. Of course, when he sees a Senate or House committee at work on TV in a committee hearing he sees members of Congress asking a lot of questions.

They're trying to find out what makes things tick. But he wished he could also see members of Congress at work among themselves, talking and arguing on the floor of the House and Senate.

But they won't permit any pictures of themselves in action in the House and Senate; not only no TV, but not even movies, news photos or even a pocket camera.

The little man couldn't help think they had a bit of gall to want witnesses before committees to face TV when they wouldn't permit any shots of themselves at work among themselves.

But the little man thought quite a lot of what he saw about the crime hearings on TV. They showed underworld characters not only had plenty of connections among themselves but among police and sheriffs and elected officials, too.

This was not anything really new to the little man. He didn't have any illusions. He certainly had sense enough to know you can't have widespread gambling without connivance by police and elected officials.

And he tried to face the implication of that honestly. He asked himself: "Don't I have to take some of the blame for all this myself? Have I been such a good citizen that I can afford to hold my nose?"

He asked himself: "What have I really done to see that I have good government in my own town, my own state, and in Washington? I haven't taken even a small hand in politics. Half the time I haven't even voted."

The little man, trying to examine his conscience, admitted to himself that some how he had always been too busy to lift a finger

Deadline Near For Auto Tags

Saturday Last Day To Obtain Plates

At the noon hour Monday approximately 300 more automobile licenses had been issued at the Fayette County Auto Club here than at the same time a year ago.

In announcing this, Deputy Registrar Howard Allen said that the unprecedented rush the first week licenses were issued probably will ease during the final rush before the deadline at midnight Saturday.

The demand was heavy Monday and Tuesday. With four more days left before the deadline, there is every reason to believe that the demand for licenses will be heavy, and there will be many waiting in line to obtain their licenses.

Deputy Allen said that the office will be open both Friday and Saturday evenings, starting at 7 o'clock, as a further accommodation to the public.

There will be no extension of time, and the new license plates must be placed on vehicles in use by midnight of March 31.

Indications are that there will be very few motor vehicles without licenses on April 1.

Law enforcement authorities here have announced that effective April 1, all drivers who do not display the 1951 license plates will be cited for violating the law.

In any way to help make government better.

"I've left the whole government up to them, the political hacks, the pros, who get fat off politics. All I do is vote for one side or the other when I know the hacks are picking both sides," he told himself.

He admitted to himself: When I get a politician to fix a traffic ticket for me it's as bad, in a minor way, as paying off a sheriff to let me run a crap game. They both corrupt the government."

The little man ran over his mind some of the things he thought he ought to do:

Talk over candidates and issues with his neighbors, be sure to vote himself, ring doorbells to get his

WHS Graduate Is Promoted To Vice President of Company

Charles M. Jones

Charles M. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Jones of Washington, D.C., today is a vice president and sales manager of C. Hager & Sons Hinge Mfg. Co. in St. Louis.

His promotion was by the company's board of directors at its recent annual meeting.

Previously he had been the sales manager, but so effectively had he handled that position that he was elevated to a vice presidency. He now makes his home in Ladue, a St. Louis suburb.

Jones, a native of Washington, D.C., is a product of the city schools. He was graduated from the high school here in 1934 and from Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware in 1938.

He first started out in Chamber of Commerce work and was associated with the Miami Beach, Fla., Chamber before the second World War. He served through the war with the navy and held a commission at the end when he was separated from the service.

Not long after that, he joined the St. Louis hinge and building hardware manufacturing concern. There his rise was rapid.

His father has been connected with the Midland Grocery Co., here as a department head for many years. He said his son does not get back home now as frequently as he formerly did because most of his work kept him pretty close to his office at the company's St. Louis headquarters.

The company's products, the elder Jones said his son had explained to him, are sold all over the United States. The new vice president's work, he added, is mostly with the district representatives. Distribution is through jobbers.

He made up his mind he'd get busy even as he told himself he would wonder if he would.

Alleged Robber Pleads Not Guilty

Billie Davenport of Marion, Ky., facing a charge of robbing Burch Edwards of $90, pleaded innocent when in Justice P. S. Ludwick's court Monday afternoon, and was held for grand jury investigation.

His bond was fixed at $500. Unable to furnish it, he was taken back to the county jail.

Leonard Edward Brandenburg

of Lexington, Ky., who was also identified as one of the two men who robbed Edwards, was to be taken before the justice of the peace later. He is suffering from an infected arm.

The two men were arrested a few hours after the robbery, which allegedly occurred on the Miami Trace Road at an early hour Monday morning, when the pair forced him from the car and held him up.

Restaurant Behavior Is Studied by Club

Members of the Fayette County 400, a 4-H Club, today could go into a restaurant with a confident feeling that they would know how to act and what to do.

For, demonstrations on the proper procedures on entering and leaving a restaurant, conduct while there and how to give an order highlighted the last meeting of the club held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Parks. Mrs. Barger and Miss Joan Cockerill, the club advisors, supervised the meeting and demonstrations.

Following the demonstrations, plans for a scrap drive on April 7 were outlined. Money taken in is to be used for "charity" and to further club activities.

Games brought the meeting's program to a close. Refreshments were then served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Johnnie Cameron April 6. A formal supper is being planned for this session. Final preparations for the scrap drive, which starts the following day, also will be made.

Will We Allow Crime Revelations To Die?

More people in Fayette County are talking about the Senatorial crime investigation committee's revelations than any other one subject.

The public is being stirred up by these disclosures. Particularly the revelations about official corruption are beginning to arouse a public which has been rather lethargic about its officials.

If any lasting good comes out of all this the incentive for positive action will have to come from the people. They will have to insist upon a cleanup. Furthermore the public will have to get rid of the idea which too many people seem to have, that it is smart to do business with racketeers, commercialized gamblers and black marketeers.

The public suffers from doing business with racketeers of Costello type and even the smaller breed if we want to keep the country reasonably free of crime, crookedness and a notion by public officials that they can play with these boys and everything is "OK" if too many people don't find it out.

Commercialized crime can cause some pretty good fellows who take public office to allow their decency to be throttled. It is this sort of thing that is threatening to the very basis of good government.

The notable contributions to public enlightenment and moral indignation made by the Kefauver Crime Investigation and the Fulbright RFC Inquiry must not be permitted to die.

In the Senate, there is a great deal of consternation over the revelations of both committees, and some of the senators are looking forward to March 31, 1951 as the day of grace when both committees' appropriations expire.

Neither of these investigations should be dropped. The evidence of corruption uncovered by the Kefauver quiz and the indications of "influence" peddling disclosed by Senator Fulbright must not be stifled or minimized.

The facts they have publicized are symptomatic of the decline in moral standards within our country. They make it evident that too many people are looking, in the words of one of the investigators, "for a fast buck" and they don't care how they get it, just as long as they don't have to work for it.

We have created a good many conditions which encourage this attitude, and it's high time we reversed the trend. We won't reverse it by pulling an iron curtain over the whole mess in an effort to pretend that it doesn't smell.

It is to be hoped that the effects of public indignation now becoming aroused will reach down into many of our states and counties where "winking" at law violations has become a pleasant pastime with far too many people.

How Your Dough Flies

The assistant chief of the U. S. Weather Bureau has told the Senate that we are "wasting a lot of money" in dealing with "rain making". We sure are. It's easier to have the president pick up and scot down to Key West to get the kind of weather he wants.

This month's "National Geographic Magazine" has a picture of hundreds of big American bombers rotting away on a South Pacific Island. The caption says it's cheaper to let them rust away than to fly them back here. Watch for somebody to put in a bid to buy them—and then sell them back to Uncle Sam.

Laff-A-Day

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

In recent years, many patients with severe stomach ulcer have been treated by operation to cut the vagus nerve which governs the activity and movements of the stomach.

Results of this measure have led doctors on a search for drugs which might have the same effect in depressing the activity of this nerve and hence curtailing stomach motion. Among those found is one known as tetraethyl ammonium chloride.

A study was made of 27 patients with various types of ulcer of the stomach and bowel, who were treated with the preparation. Some ulcers of the stomach are what are known as penetrating ulcers, that is, they have eaten deep into the tissues. In five of the patients with this type of ulcer, the tetraethyl ammonium chloride was started immediately upon admission to the hospital because of the need to control pain.

Rest in Bed

Eighteen other patients were first put on a standard ulcer management, including diet, rest in bed, and alkaline preparations, as well as such drugs as belladonna, and such quieting preparations as the barbiturates. After this treatment had been carried out for varying periods of time on these patients, it was stopped, and the drug tetraethyl ammonium chloride was started. The time of starting the drug depended upon whether or not the standard form of treatment gave relief from pain.

In all but one case the drug was given by injection into a muscle, and, in most instances, it was administered twice a day. All cases of ulcer with severe pain responded to the treatment with immediate relief from pain, and this pain relief could be maintained as long as the drug was administered.

Spasm is Relieved

The pain of ulcer, it is thought, is due to stretching of the stomach. When the tetraethyl ammonium chloride is administered, it blocks the action of the vagus nerve, the movements of the stomach are halted, and spasm is relieved. In this way, the stretching of the stomach cannot continue, and pain disappears.

It would appear that the drug is an effective agent for relieving severe pain in peptic ulcer. Whether or not its continued use would produce a cure cannot as yet be stated. With this preparation, there may be occasional slight blurring of the vision and some lowering of the blood pressure, but these symptoms are not severe.

Ulcer of Stomach Is Aided by Drug

G-Man Among Reds Going Underground

WASHINGTON, March 27—(P)

—J. Edgar Hoover disclosed today the FBI has secret agents among a group of American Communists which he said "has gone underground for possible action at a later date."

The disclosure was reported in a copyrighted interview in the magazine "U. S. News and World Report."

The Federal Bureau of Investigation director was asked if he had means of checking up on Communist party members "even though they have gone underground."

"Oh, yes," he replied. The next question was: "You have undercover agents in various parts of the United States?"

"Yes, Hoover answered. "This technique is necessary in keeping abreast with clandestine operations of any subversive organization."

The FBI chief said "all that remains of the Communist party x x x above the ground is a self-constituted core, which for appearance's sake maintains a public contact."

Cost of Korea---What Lies Ahead?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, —(P)—The Korean war is now nine months old.

It is a good time to take stock of the situation. What have been the profits and losses of this campaign that may be the seed of the third world war—or as optimists hope -- the last of all international wars?

What are the prospects of ending it? So far the losses have been military and the profits -- if any -- have been political.

It has been the fourth bloodiest war in United States history. The American casualties are nearing the 60,000 mark. That is more than three full combat divisions. It is more than the population of Abilene, Texas. It is more than were required to gain American independence, to defeat Mexico, to win the west from the Indians, or to beat Spain and free Cuba.

Yet these are only a fraction of the casualties suffered by Korean civilians, south and north Korean soldiers, and Chinese "volunteer" troops. They total far above 500,000.

The war has cost the American taxpayer billions of dollars. He probably will be asked to put up billions of dollars more to rebuild Korea when the sound and the fury of battle die away.

After all this expenditure of sweat, blood, time and money where do the rival armies stand? About where they did when the war began last June 25.

Was it all worth while? Politically, the answers seems to be yes. A wall of force finally has been built against the spread of Communism. The prestige of the United Nations has grown. The prestige of Red China--and Red Russia, too--has fallen. The power of American arms has been magnified tremendously, and world faith in that power has risen.

What of the future? China might be able to force the present United Nations army out of Korea is she threw in 1,000,000 more trained men. But there is no sign she wants to pay that price to make good her boast to throw the Allies off the peninsula. Could she actually keep them supplied?

A military stalemate or a diplomatic compromise therefore still appear to be the most likely possibilities.

In either case unhappy Korea probably will be garrisoned by foreign troops for a long time to come.

One reason is the leader of the Republic of Korea--76--year-old Syngman Rhee. He has spent most of his life trying to achieve a United Korea. He is determined to do it heedless of the cost.

So long as he is in power it is hard to see how the United Nations and China can withdraw their forces and agree to restore the old situation--a north and South Korea divided by an artificial boundary such as the 38th parallel.

American military advisors feel that if such an agreement were made and all foreign troops withdrew President Rhee would launch his own army across that frontier to extend the sway of his government over the entire country.

"That is why we helped him build an army of 100,000 after the last war instead of the army of 300,000 he asked for," recalled one advisor. "We were afraid that if he had an army of 300,000 he would attack across the 38th parallel--just as the Communists did themselves last year."

Unless the Chinese do launch a last do-or-die offensive, this is the best bet.

Major fighting will end soon, the Communists will hold a big chunk of the upper part of the Korean peninsula, and the United Nations will retain strong token forces in South Korea to guard a restless peace. And Syngman Rhee will end his days an embittered man.

By George Sokolsky

plete control over the economy?"

In a word, can we have half-Socialism or 20 percent Socialism without becoming a Socialized society? Actually, it cannot be done no matter who tries it and so far as the people are concerned, Socialism in the Truman administration, through the depreciation of currency, is driving the individual who earns a living to the wall.

The quarrel between the treasury and the Federal Reserve Bank over interest rates is really over this question. The Federal Reserve System wants to improve the value of the dollar; the treasury wants to maintain the salability of government bonds. To use a colloquial term -- the Federal Reserve System wants to restore some hardness to money, while the treasury wants to keep money soft, and so they compromise, which begs the question.

The government will have to sell lots of bonds to the public if this war program continues and the treasury has to sell those bonds. So far as the public is concerned, it is a question of buying bonds or paying higher taxes. On the other hand, the increasing depreciation imperils everybody's dollar. The great economists who surround the president have planned and planned and this is where we come out.

Miss Shallcross asks pertinent: "...Are there to be tests for the planner's efficiency? Or are the planners assumed to be supermen without error in judgement..."

And those questions are never answered in a political system which has as its keynote: "the government can do no wrong." The answer could be that there must be something radically wrong if the value of our dollar is shooting downward.

57th Birthday Of Eastern Star Is Celebrated

The 57th birthday anniversary of Royal Chapter Eastern Star was observed by its members Monday evening.

The occasion included a delicious covered dish dinner served in the dining room.

Tables were lavishly decorated in a color scheme of pink and blue with pink streamers extending the full length interspersed with lighted blue tapers and the highlight of the decorations was a huge birthday cake bearing the numerals "57".

Mrs. Ethel Calloway pronounced the invocation before the one hundred forty-one members and guests were seated for the congenial dinner hour.

Later the ritualistic work was given by the officers under the direction of the Worthy Matron Mrs. Margaret Hurtt and Worthy Patron Mr. Charles L. Hurtt.

The worthy matron presented a representative from "the mother chapter" which is St. Mary's Chapter and her ten daughter chapters.

Those who gave short talks were Mrs. Mable Thrall a member of St. Mary's Chapter for the past sixty years; Mrs. Ida Bargar, of Leesburg Chapter, Mrs. Ida Gooey, of Purity Chapter, New Holland; Mrs. Kathryn Anderson, Sterling Chapter, Mt. Sterling; Mrs. Charles Gobleman, Waverly Chapter; Mrs. Jean Mason, Forest Chapter, Bloomingburg; Mrs. Ora Wical, Loyal Chapter, Sabina.

Mrs. Lena Drummond, Bainbridge Chapter, Bainbridge; Mrs. Glenn H. Brock, Jefferson, Chapter, Jeffersonville; Mrs. Jane Daniels, Greenfield Chapter, Greenfield.

Mrs. Emma Sifrit represented the granddaughter chapter, which is London Chapter.

Mrs. Annetta Rowe, a member of Royal Chapter for fifty years, spoke of the early days and experiences.

Distinguished guests present were Mrs. Alma Noble, grand representative of Idaho and Deputy Grand Matron Mrs. Margaret Morrow along with ten worthy matrons from neighboring chapters and two worthy patrons.

The evening was most interesting and enlightening and also most enjoyable.

Additional guests present were from Marysville, Leesburg, Waverly, Mt. Sterling, New Holland, Sabina, Bainbridge, Jeffersonville, Greenfield, Columbus, London and Bloomingburg.

Mr. Wendell Briggs of Sabina was soloist for the evening with Mrs. Briggs as accompanist and Mrs. Frank Cox was the capable chairman of arrangements for the dinner.

Sorority Plans Rushing Season At Meeting

The regular meeting of the Graduate Sorority was held in the Record-Herald club rooms Monday evening, with a good attendance of members present.

The business session, opening with the Graduate invocation, was presided over by Mrs. John Ohnwehr. The usual reports were heard and approved and Mrs. Ralph Hyer and Mrs. Willis Coffman gave detailed reports of visits to rest homes in this city.

A lengthy discussion was held on the barn dance which will be held sometime during April at the Emerson Marting farm, which is an annual social event of the sorority.

A committee composed of Mrs. Charles McCoy and Mrs. Langdon McCoy was appointed to make plans for the rushing season for new pledges.

Arrangements were made to hold the first aid classes in members' homes for the next four lessons and the regular meetings will continue to be held in the Record-Herald club rooms.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Neil Helfrich, who supervised the first aid class.

Following the instruction, light refreshments were served by Mrs. Emory Lynch and Mrs. Charles Mustine.

The next meeting on April 9 will be held at the club rooms with Mrs. Willis Coffman and Mrs. Richard Rankin hostesses.

State Tourney Tickets on Sale

Class B Games Start Thursday

COLUMBUS, March 27—(AP)—Tickets still were available in varying quantities today for some games of the state high school basketball tournament which begins Thursday.

But there is no one central public sale. The only public sales are in the home towns of the competing schools, where tickets are limited. And tickets are available there only for the game in which the school competes.

Tickets not sold in the various towns will be on sale at the games. The State Fairgrounds Coliseum in Columbus holds 6,780, and this number of tickets have been printed for each game. But only about half of this number go on public sale. The rest are allotted to coaches, school and state officials and the like.

FOR EXAMPLE: the Ohio High School Athletic Association allotted 1,800 tickets to Grand Rapids which plays Lockland Wayne in the opening game at 2:35 P. M. (EST) Thursday. So far, 500 have been sold. And total sales there are expected to reach 750. So there may be some left over.

Principal E. F. Roan of Lockland Wayne reports 1,000 of his 2,000 tickets still are unsold. All are up for general sale, with no preference given. He said most Lockland fans "wait until the last minute" and that tickets will be held there until Wednesday night. He does not anticipate a sellout. The situation is nearly the same for the second class B game, between Ashley and Waynesburg at 8:05 P. M. Thursday.

About half of Waynesburg's 1,851 tickets are sold—about equal to the town's population. Other tickets are being sold to schools in surrounding communities. Only about 600 of the 2,848 tickets allotted to Ashley are left. A school official said "this town is going crazy."

TELEVISION steps into the picture Friday, when the state's four top class A teams meet. There games will be televised by Columbus, Cincinnati and Dayton stations.

Hamilton Public meets Canton McKinley in the first class A game, at 2:35 P. M. Friday. Hamilton officials said they expect to have some standing room tickets to return due to TV and the fact it is an afternoon game. Tickets will be sold to students first, then on a first come, first served basis. They don't go on sale until Wednesday night.

Canton McKinley officials said about 400 of their 1,681 tickets still are left—but all are expected to be gone before game time.

Barberton meets Columbus East in the Friday night game, at 8:05 P. M.

Athletic Director Ralph Webster of East reports 800 standing room tickets are left from his allotment of 2,358 tickets. He expects students to pick up some of these today.

Barberton reported all reserved seats are sold. Standing room tickets went on sale to the public Monday.

Any tickets returned to Columbus will go on sale at the Coliseum at 12:30 P. M. For afternoon games and 6 P. M. for night contests.

Officials advise fans to hold their stubs, on the chance they might help them get tickets for Saturday finals. Tickets for preliminary games have been stamped for identification purposes.

Joe Wolfe, the wrestling ice-man, will be LaRance's opponent in the main event of the evening. It is a scheduled two falls out of three with a one hour time limit.

The gals will be back in action again on the card with Betty Hawkins of Canton going against Ann LaVerne in the semi-final event.

Paul Orth, a newcomer to these parts, will tangle with Bill Melby, another new grimaee artist, in the opener of the evening's card.

Last time LaRance was here he almost collapsed the ring with his jumping and bouncing antics, but the boards have been reinforced to accommodate the extra rough punishment. Speedy falls from Canada.

Wolfe is a native Ohioan. He

Pep Wins Decision After Shoulder Hurt

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Mar. 27—(AP)—Former featherweight champion Willie Pep's unanimous decision over Pat Jacobucci of Cincinnati last night may be a costly one.

Lou Viscusi, Pep's manager, disclosed after the fight at Miami Beach Auditorium that Pep hurt his left shoulder in the first round and the injury may delay a return match with Sandy Saddler in New York in June.

was born and raised in Columbus. He once held the Ohio junior heavyweight title and has mixed with most of the topflight mat heavyweights in the business.

Neither of the two gals has rassed in this area much and not too much is known about their records, but Betty Hawkins has brown hair, a Venus "figger" and a couple of cauliflower ears, just in case you're interested.

College Basketball To Be Continued in New York's Garden

NEW YORK, March 27—(AP)—College basketball will continue to be played in Madison Square Garden.

That was decided yesterday when the presidents of Manhattan New York University and St. John's University announced "it is our firm conviction that college basketball can be played in the Garden without our student-players succumbing to corruption as disclosed in the recent scandal."

The college heads, in a joint statement, declared that the idea that "Madison Square Garden is totally responsible for the present status of intercollegiate basketball in Metropolitan New York, and that the college gymnasium is a panacea for this evil is a myth. x x x"

Harry Wright, president of City College of New York (CCNY) was unable to attend, but assured the group that CCNY would play in the Garden next year "if the board of higher education approves."

Long Island University was not represented having dropped the sport last month in the wake of the fixed games disclosures.

Training Camp Baseball Briefs

LOS ANGELES, March 27—(AP)—Whether pitcher Frank Shea ever will regain the form he displayed as a rookie for the New York Yankees in 1947 is debatable. He suffered a torn back muscle in his latest comeback try yesterday while working against the University of Southern California nine. Dr. Sidney Gayner, Yankee physician, would not estimate how long Shea would be unable to pitch.

Landrith, a hustling rookie catcher, was optioned off to Buffalo of the international league.

The Reds got mixed up in another low-scoring exhibition game yesterday and finished second best to the Boston Braves.

Aid Now Considered For Latin America

WASHINGTON, March 27—(P)—The Truman administration is considering an unprecedented $80,000,000 military aid program for Latin America. This was learned today in advance of the opening here of an inter-American foreign ministers conference.

The first session of the conference gets underway at about 3:30 P. M., EST., with an address by President Truman. The American chief executive made an appeal for tight unity of western hemisphere nations against the worldwide Soviet Communist threat.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson, American member of the conference, has as his chief objective in the meeting an agreement that the Central and South American nations will build up their military strength so that they can carry a greater share of the load of hemisphere defenses, now borne chiefly by the U. S.

Latin American governments in pre-conference exchanges have made clear that if they are to increase their military establishments they will require American help. This has confronted the state and defense departments with the question of how help may be provided.

Marijuana Smoking Spreads Among Youth

WASHINGTON, March 27—(P)—Several hundred veterans are having to give up their hospital beds because of the increase in marijuana smoking among teenagers, public health service officials have told a House committee.

The story was told an appropriations subcommittee during hearings on the public health service budget. The committee published the testimony today.

Dr. G. Halsey Hunt, chief of public health hospitals, said there has been "a marked rise" since the war in the number of teenage drug addicts admitted to the service's two hospitals where drug addiction is treated.

CHAPTER FORTY-TWO
NOW JENNET stood alone on the bank. The men who were not helping at the sawyers were going along with those who were, some whinping at the oxen, some shouting. She could separate Erro from them all by his red hair. He had a hawser from the brig over his shoulder and was bending almost double under the strain of its pull. She kept her eyes hard on him until a turn in the bank shut him from sight. Then suddenly she felt a loneliness different from any she had felt before in her life.

It stayed with her through the day, even when she was busy in the kitchen and in the yard, a queer, empty ache inside her. Quint kept mostly to the taproom and office, Becky, going about with a moaning look—probably dwelling on the young drover's return—was poor company.

Jennet longed to saddle Aladdin and go off on a wild ride, but she hesitated to break her promise to Quint. Then, too, any ride was certain to take her across the brook to the place where she and Peter had met—and he would not be there.

Those precious, few meetings seemed a long time ago. Later it had been difficult to bring Becky back clearly in her dreams—before, she had needed only to close her eyes to see him, his proud, black head, his eyes with the look that came into them just for her. To feel his hands on her, to feel—loved. But now something seemed to have come between her and those dreams. She was a little frightened that this was so—she would not let it happen! She knelt each night for a longer time by her window. She had promised him that when he came back, after this silly war was over... She had not finished her promise in words but her heart knew what it was and Peter's heart must know, too.

But no word came of the naval battle on Lake Erie which was to free those waters of British control. Those brave plans seemed to have dissolved with the disappearing of the brig behind the wooded bank of the river.

After a while Becky's face lost its look of happy abstraction. The young drover had not come back as he had promised. Each day when there was the sound of a new arrival in the taproom she had peeked breathlessly through a crack in the door to see if it were Mr. Duffy, but when three weeks had passed and he had not appeared, she stopped doing that. She grew indifferent to her personal appearance, going about with such untidy hair and dress that Jennet spoke one day to her, a little sharply. "You're a sight! Even if that man doesn't come, you might keep yourself looking pretty for the rest of us!"

On a day of the following week Mr. Michael Duffy came. Becky had no chance to run upstairs and pretty herself; he walked at once into the kitchen where he had drunk hot coffee that night of the bombardment. "Howdy, Miss Becky. I've come back, soon as I could, like I said I would." He grinned at Jennet and Sarah and then his eyes went back to Becky. "Glad to see me, lass?"

Becky was incapable of answering that specifically. The only thing she could do was to turn to the kettle steaming over the fire, and mumble, "Hav' you et?" Jennet's lessons in proper speech were forgotten.

"Not victuals that smell 's good as that!" Becky heaped a plate from the stew in the kettle, put it down on the table and Mr. Duffy sat down and began to eat heartily. Quint came into the room. He recognized the young drover, greeted him cordially; then he glanced questioning at Jennet, a little puzzled that this guest should be a new one in the kitchen instead of in the taproom. As soon as she could Jennet made opportunity to explain it to him. She followed him out into the yard. "Uncle Quint, he was taken with Becky that night. He told her he was coming back—and he's come!"

Quint frowned. "We know nothing of him." Jennet interrupted him before he could go on. "He's genuine, so honest, so open about it! You can fall in love all in a minute, Uncle Quint. A girl—and a man, too." Oh, she knew! Quint gave her an unsmiling look but there was no scorn in it. "You may be right. I know nothing about those matters. I'll have a talk with the young man and find out what it is in his mind."

As she went back to the kitchen Jennet found Becky sitting at the table beside her drover, her cheeks very red, her eyes downcast. Sarah had had the tact to leave the two young people alone. But it wasn't as romantic a scene as Jennet could have wished—Becky looked as if her lips were sealed tight for all time and the young man was eating with noisy gusto his second helping of pudding. But Jennet suspected his other hand had just released its hold of Becky's.

When he finished Quint called him into the taproom and then took him into his office. He was at a loss now to approach him concerning Becky. While he was eating his own meal in the taproom he had thought unwillingly back to those first weeks after meeting Rhoda. Had he fallen in love at once? He doubted it, now. It had been the need of having someone close. And she had married him to escape.

And for all this searching he was no nearer to knowing what to say when he led Michael Duffy into the small office. "Sit down, young man," he said, motioning to the one other chair in the room, and then he fell silent.

The young drover saved the awkwardness of the moment. "Guess you're wantin' to ask why I come back. It's the girl, sir, little Miss Becky. I've took to her." His eyes clear blue Irish eyes, met Quint's squarely. "I've known a lot of 'em, here and there, but I never took to one like I done to her. I've some money saved and my eye on a farmiste on the Ohio—mighty good growin' land and a more up-and-comin' part of the country than down east..."

"We'll go to the Ohio settlement."

Quint put his hand over his eyes. He'd won Rhoda on that promise. "I've no folks to hold me back in York State," Michael Duffy went on when Quint did not speak. "I've been on my own since I was fifteen. I'm twenty-eight now. Good money in drovin' but it's a sort o' lonesome life, traipsing over the country. A fellow likes someone belonging to him... The little lass took me she had no one; I'd be awful good to her, sir."

Quint dropped his hand to hold it out to the younger man. Then, suddenly, he remembered... "Has she told you that..." He stopped, his eyes averted.

Michael grinned. "She isn't one to talk much. She's shy. That's the way I like 'em!"

Russia's War Spending Greater Than in West

WASHINGTON, March 27—(P)—The state department says Russia is spending 20 percent of its national income on arms compared with 15 percent by the west.

This indirect reply to Russian accusations that the west is warring against while the Soviet Union works for peace was broadcast overseas yesterday by the Voice of America.

The first U. S. patent for wireless (radio today) was issued to Dr. Mahlon Loomis in 1872.

Bloomington Lions Honor Team Members

Athletic Director At Wittenberg Is Principal Speaker

Howard Mauer, athletic director of Wittenberg College, told members of the Bloomington Lions Club and high school basketball players Monday night that there were many ways of "selling out" other than by bribes.

He referred to the recent scandals in New York in which several members of teams there sold out to gamblers to throw cage games.

Mauer said players could "sell out" by cheating on training rules and by carrying personal grudges. The speaker stressed the need for more teamwork, spirit, dependability and good sportsmanship throughout life.

Court House Again Heated

DP&L Effects Quick Repairs to Furnace

After being out of commission since Thursday night, the gas furnace at the Court House was heating the building once more Tuesday.

A defective section in the furnace had cracked and allowed water to pour out, with the result that no heat reached any part of the building.

The furnace had been furnished by the Dayton Power and Light Company, and was manufactured in Cleveland.

The company dispatched a truck to Cleveland to bring back the large iron casting necessary to replace the defective one, Ted Youakum making the trip.

Plumbers of the Associated Plumbers, under the direction of Frank Hays, started to work on the furnace over the week-end and dismantled the main part of the furnace.

As soon as the new part arrived, it was installed and work of reassembling the furnace was completed Monday night.

At 8:15 o'clock Tuesday the furnace was turned on, and apparently was working perfectly.

Gas heaters and even kerosene stoves had been turned on in various county offices to keep the rooms as comfortable as possible while the furnace was out of commission, and these were turned off Tuesday as the radiators started functioning once more.

By the noon hour most of the court house was comfortable once more.

Dayton Power and Light officials were on hand Tuesday to inspect the furnace and see that it was working properly.

About $30 was spent by Good Hope for the purchase of wire and other items, including a library table.

Singers To Put On Demonstration

A last call was issued to persons in the community who have attended any of the songfests held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wipert. They are asked to be present at the songfest demonstration Thursday evening at the Lees Creek Congregational Church. It will be given in conjunction with the three-day convention of the Rural Life Association.

Plans for the demonstration of what goes on at a songfest were completed at their practice Monday evening at the Wipert home.

Religious, ballad and popular songs are part of the 40-minute show. There will also be a couple of solo numbers, as well as a number or two from the string band, made up from members of the group.

"Everyone who has ever been to a songfest is urged to attend the demonstration Thursday evening," Mrs. Wipert said.

April 27 will be the date for the next regular gathering of the singers at the Wipert home.

Two County Schools Cut Vacation Short

Students of both Jeffersonville and Good Hope returned to school one day early after their Easter vacation in order to make up time lost during the year.

Good Hope returned one day early to make up time lost last November when a new furnace had to be installed. Jeffersonville made up one of the days lost due to bad weather during the winter.

Ordinarily, the spring Easter vacation lasts from Thursday March 22 through Monday March 26. Bloomington, Madison Mills and the city schools had the full five days off.

Government experts estimate that the average life of a one-dollar bill is nine months.

Anyone who can keep a dollar that long nowadays must have learned the economy of nourishing PENNINGTON BREAD as a food-stretcher.
